A unique platform operated entirely remotely

Directstreams has designed a platform that is totally centralized and able to manage all your services remotely. This "hospitality digital hub" is made up of 3 main components:

- The IP terminal (computer or set-top box) integrated in the room which provides access to the wide range of multimedia services.
- The Local Multimedia Server (LMS): a local component installed in the hotel technical room. It acts as the interface between the IP terminals, the local information systems, the PMS of the front desk and ultimately the Directstreams external management operating center.
- The Network Operating Center (NOC): it is the ultimate external control center. It allows the ability to remotely operate a multitude of tasks including: maintenance and supervision of the local network / creation and management of local promotions / authentication and billing of users / real-time reporting of activities at each location (consumption statistics, sales) / upgrading and updating of equipment and solutions.
